

ARMY SONGS

Tunes.—The Cross now covers, 1121;
Thou Shepherd of Israel, 1111;
Song Book, 493.
1 I stand all bewildered with wonder,
And gaze on the ocean of love,
And over its waves to my spirit
Comes peace like a heavenly dove.

Chorus.

The Cross now covers my sins,
The past is under the blood;
I'm trusting in Jesus for all,
My will is the will of my God.

I struggled and wrestled to win it,
The blessing that setteth me free;
But when I had ceased from my struggling,
His peace Jesus gave unto me.
He laid His hand on me and healed me,
And bade me be every whit whole;
I touched the hem of His garment,
And glory came thrilling my soul.

Tunes.—I will follow Thee, 1141;
This is why I love, 110.
2 Brightly beams our Father's mercy,
From His lightning evermore;
Not to us He gives the keeping
Of the lights along the shore.

Chorus.

Let the lower lights be burning,
Send a gleam across the wave;
Some poor, fainting, struggling seaman
You may rescue, you may save.

Dart the night of sin has reeled,
Loud the angry billows roar;
Eager eyes are watching, longing,
For the lights along the shore.

Trim your feeble lamp, my brother;
Some poor seaman, tempest tossed,
Trying now to make the harbour,
In the darkness may be lost!

Tunes.—Hallelujah to the Lamb, 34;
Manchester, 47; Song Book, 428.
3 Jesus, I love Thy charming name,
This music to my ear;
Fain would I sound it out so loud
That earth and heaven should hear.

Yes, Thou art precious to my soul,
My Transport and my Trust;
Jewels to Thee are gaudy toys,
And gold is sordid dust.

I'll speak the honour of Thy name,
With my last labouring breath;
Then, speechless, clasp Thee in my arms,
The Conqueror of death.

Tunes.—Behold the Lamb, 122; Detter World, 121; Song Book, 4.
4 Behold! behold the Lamb of God,

On the cross.
For us He shed His precious blood,
On the cross.
Oh, hear that all-important cry,
"Why perish, blood-bought sinner,
why?"
Draw near and see your Saviour die,
On the cross.

Behold His arms extended wide,
Behold His bleeding hands and side,
The sin withholds His rays of light,
The heavens are clothed in shades
of night,
While Jesus does with devils fight.

Come, sinners, see Him lifted up,
He drinks for you the bitter cup,
The rocks do rend, the mountains
quake,
While Jesus doth Salvation make,
While Jesus suffers for our sake.

ONI ONI MY SOUL! (By Mrs. Staff-Captain Arnold.)

My task was done,
With buoyant hope yet anxious thought,
I viewed it clear and o'er again,
Had good success my labour brought.
Or all my toiling been in vain?
In letters as of flaming fire,
To burn my heart, torment my brain,
I spelled what meant result so dire—
Failure and loss, no hope of gain,
And shall I sit and mourn my loss?
No! Up and at it beener for Defeat to conquer, barriers cross,
Then brightly gleamed the victor's star,
Success had won.

Life's struggles past,
I stand before the Great White Throne.

What of the failures, faults, and fears,
To which my heart has been so prone,
Bringing regrets and bitter tears?
No hope, no hope beyond the grave,
'Tis here a conqueror I must be,
And rise above each cruel wave,
Which threatens to sweep over me.

On, on, my soul, to perfect love,
On, on, to peace redeeming grace,
On, on, to realms of bliss above,
Where I shall see my Saviour's face,
And Heaven at last!

MOTHER'S BRAVE STAND.

By Mrs. Adjutant Mercer, St. Thomas.

I have never forgotten the effort it meant to my mother to commence Family Prayer in our house. I was about eight years of age, and my mother had got converted in a certain meeting. Next morning she said to father: "I would like to read from God's Word and have prayer." He replied: "Not with me!" and took his hat and walked out. This kind of thing lasted for months, but my mother held on, and father eventually got converted and joined with her in Family Worship. He has now gone to the Glory Land. Of course, the memory of this has never left me.

I also feel how necessary it is in every home. I also know how hard it is in some homes to hold it every day, but I would urge every mother and father never under any circumstances to let the Sabbath pass without getting the family together for prayer, and to try all the time to do it daily.

1. Pray for much blessing to attend the Congress in Newfoundland.
2. Pray for great inspiration to come to all Summer Conventions and Conferences.

Local Officers in the Making.

THE DUTIES OF A CORPS CADET GUARDIAN—RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE CANDIDATES.

THE chief recruiting ground probably for our Field and Local Officers is in the ranks of that useful Organization, the Corps Cadets. In the earlier days, when The Army was young, we drew our preachers, in harmony with our late beloved General's immortal declaration from the ranks of sin, have now left behind them a generation of young people, thousands of whom have never been down the path of poverty and sin and shame.

Shielded from every blighting influence, guarded with the tender care of saved parents, knowing nothing but The Army, they have grown up strong in soul and mind and body, well equipped to take their part in leading on The Army of future days to greater conquests than we have ever seen.

Others Might Benefit.

The people entrusted with the particular duty of seeking out, training in the Corps, and preparing for wider service the young people who possess the necessary convictions and qualifications, are the Corps Cadets' Guardians. It is of these comrades we would say a few words.

We have, thanks be to God, a great number of Corps Cadets enrolled already, but there are very many other Young People in Corps Cadets' Guardians. It is of these comrades we would say a few words. We have, thanks be to God, a great number of Corps Cadets enrolled already, but there are very many other Young People in Corps Cadets' Guardians. It is of these comrades we would say a few words.

After such a course of study and preparation, it is quite certain that whether ultimately engaged in Field or Local Oratorship, all our young people would be much better able to perform the duties required of them in their work for God and The Army. The Guardian's first care is to link them up.

The Corps Cadets' Guardian is also responsible for the spiritual welfare of the Corps Cadets' Candidates. This will enable him to demand upon his own soul as well as upon his sympathy, tact, and knowledge of character and temperament. The great variety of natures, circumstances, occupations, etc., will probably make it necessary to deal differently with every one in order to help them and it is obvious that the Guardian will need to be in close touch with God in order to meet the demands of his flock. Power with God will carry with it all the wisdom required for his task.

How to Keep Healthy.

One of the best ways to keep a healthy soul is to be actively engaged in the fight, and the Corps Cadets' Guardian will find that the most helpful method to adopt with Corps Cadets is to keep them always in "the firing line." Their opportunities, capacities, and so forth are of course, considerably varied, but with the many departments open for service it should be possible to give every Cadet something definite to do. Speaking in general and indoor meetings, leading meetings, Company Guard duties, visitation, "War Cry" selling, and other duties will suggest themselves to the Guardian as openings for the energies and abilities of his Cadets. They will feel their weakness, no doubt, but that fact will drive them to their knees for power from God to do their work, and thus assist their spiritual life as well as develop their talents.

Kind Word and Helping Hand.

When for any reason a Candidate has been declined, the Corps Cadets' Guardian will note it in his business, to cheer and encourage him in every way possible. The first few days will probably be a time of sore trial and disappointment, and a kindly word and helping hand will be much needed. Moreover, the cause should be discovered if possible, and any weakness or lack of ability must be judiciously dealt with, with a view to improvement, so that later on, after a period of further training in the Corps, the Candidate may apply again with better hope of acceptance.

We should specially urge that the comrades referred to should maintain their connection with the Corps Cadets' clubs and operations. Do not let this link be severed!

THE PRAYING LEAGUE.

Enkindle generous ardour, feed pure love,
Beget the smiles that have no foe,
Be the presence of a good diffused,
And in diffusion even more intense,
So shall I join the choir invisible
Whose music is the gladness of the world.

Happiness is nothing but that inward, sweet delight that will arise from the harmonious agreement between our will and God's will.

The Joy of Living.

No human being has ever attained to such high standards of living that there was nothing higher to work for. What a blessing this is! For there is no such joy in life like the reaching out after high standards and working toward them. Those who are content to live by any lower standard than the highest are the conscious of know nothing of the real joy of life.

Those who are closest to God show the least strain in their lives. The only real strain in life is the tug of pulling away from God. The more nearly we get into oneness with Him and His will, the more completely we have God and the universe working with us instead of against us. It is the way of the transgressor that is hard. Christ's yoke is the only strain-curing harness we can ever wear. But we can always discover ways of fitting our lives into it more perfectly, and this is His never-ending invitation to greater joy.

SOMETHING TO SHOUT ABOUT

Pointers and Reflections for Old Moments.

The writer of the following notes says he has something to shout about, but that when he goes to write, all the great things he had taken to the tall woods, and a dozen pens and typewriters cannot harness them up again. Had habits grow worse than weeds. Once I used to carry a scribbler for noting down a scribbled and other notes, but I don't know where they're gone to, but I haven't got them now. He did some running, however, and here is the result:

Are your sins forgiven? Mine are; I was saved on July 22nd, 1886, Hallelujah!

Are you sanctified? Call it what you like—holiness, the second blessing or a clean heart—the name is not of first importance. Are you a positive that you possess it? Can you shout about it? Or is it merely the skeleton of an old ghost in the chest—a just reminder of what once was?

If thou dost not well, sin lieth at the door.

I thank God for the ever-present, hallowing grace of God's Spirit within me, that I am His kept one and unspotted, ready for the great Inspector to call even without warning.

Born again and holiness doctrine have, alas! gone to glory with many "Gospel-pioneers." We're leaving no bricks, but with some people it is almost as scarce as hens' teeth to hear these doctrines and precious spoken of as a part of a Christian's outfit. And, too many so-called converts are given to understand that being born again means simply affiliation with the Lord's people, and that holiness is a blessing that comes by the mere passage of time.

Oh, great guns, wake somebody up! Two terribly big deaths are at a fierce rampage through the Dominion of Canada, in the West particularly: they are, greed after money and lust. If I were a preacher, I could preach a sermon a hundred miles long every day of the year, or rather twice a day: one against selfishness and the other against whiskey. But facing I cannot do that, will you just promise the Lord yourself that you will pray once a day that the people's hearts may be kept from the lust and the thought of strong drink. Permit prayer to God can work miracles. Try it.

I think God that the god of this world has no mortgages on me. I am the happiest man I ever met, and wouldn't swap my experience even with yours. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ is with me. May yourself to your share of it—S.

PORTRAITS FOR THE "CRY"

Correspondents will help the Editorial Staff if, in sending photos for publication in "The War Cry" or "Young Soldier" they will try their utmost to secure photographs taken in Army uniform.

When the clouds seem all around you,
When there's nothing to relieve
The darkness of your present,
And no light you can perceive,
Just keep smiling, smiling, SMILING.

No matter what befalls,
And don't forget to keep it up
And SHINE INSIDE.

I HAVE just been privileged to conduct the opening services at Yorkton, a thriving town of North-Eastern Saskatchewan with a population of nearly five thousand, and a town which has developed greatly in the last few years. It has some magnificent buildings, amongst them being the Post-Office, the Town Hall, Hudson's Bay Store, bank buildings, schools, St. Patrick Hall, and several beautiful churches. There are also charming residential sections, and altogether the town is a live, up-to-date community.

It has a mixed population, but its people are certainly ambitious and energetic.

The town is an important point on the C. P. N. main line from Winnipeg in Edmonton, and lies 279 miles north-west of Winnipeg.

The pioneer Officers are Captain Esther Grey, formerly of South Edmonton, and Lieutenant Eva Frost, from the Training College. We were treated with extreme kindness by all, from His Worship, Mayor Livingstone, to the small boy on the street. Many people expressed their delight over the appearance of the poke bonnet and The Army drum on the street. A leading minister, whom we met on the street, said he was surprised to see us, and at the same time placed his church at our disposal for the opening services if we required it. Such kindness may not be prevalent everywhere, but, then, we are in the West, and that makes all the difference!

A branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific from Melville to Canora also passes through Yorkton, and the grading for a branch of the Canadian Northern has been completed to the town limits from the east and west.

The town has two good weekly

VANCOUVER'S SOCIAL WORK

Progress During Last Few Weeks.

Ensign Marshall, of the Social Work in Vancouver, has issued the report of the Employment and Police Court departments for the month of June (says "The Vancouver Daily Province") and the returns show a gratifying increase in the usefulness of the work over all previous periods. During the month the Social work afforded accommodation with beds for 1568 men; 25 cents, 85 beds at 20 cents, 399 beds at 15 cents, and 111 free beds, while during the same period 115 men were supplied with free meals. In the Free Labour Bureau, four men were provided with permanent positions and 176 with temporary work.

From the police and magistrates, the Ensign recorded 21 men, and these men were supplied during the month with 86 meals and 45 beds, while 23 articles of clothing were supplied for their needs. Sixteen men were found for 26 of these men, and only two were returned to the police as incorrigibly lazy and shiftless. The department of Prison Work, Ensign Marshall and his assistants conducted sixteen meetings in the prisons, including 3 at New Westminster, 5 at Okla Prison Farm, 3 at the County Jail, and 2 at the Boys' Industrial Home. In addition a full Band Festival was given during the month at the Okla Prison Farm.

It has been decided to make an immediate start with the proposed Industrial Home on Lansdowne Avenue. The building will be of brick, and the foundations will be papers in "The Enterprise" and "The Times."

RECEPTION OF THE ARMY AND INCIDENTS OF THE FIRST WEEK-END CAMPAIGN.

"The War Cry" was well received, and the Officers quickly disposed of the first supply. The old salutation of "Boy a Cry!" was evidently familiar to many.

never sounded so sweet and was never sung by a more earnest, anxious, and than on this occasion, and the crowd—well, they came in all directions in spite of the muddy streets and damp sidewalks, until Broadway seemed all alive! Some the citizens should rejoice all the more for the coming of an Army, which would be a strength to the Christian cause. He was sure The Army would enrich the town far more than any industry could do so.

But Yorkton's citizens are not sympathetic to word only; their first offering was a liberal contribution, several bills being dropped into the tin-horn.

Sunday dawned cloudy, but our faith was high, and the Lord rewarded us and graciously gave us a clear day.

The meetings were held in the comfortable and spacious Town Hall, and the attendances were good. We were reinforced on Sunday morning by the arrival of my father, Sergeant-Major Peacock, from Regina, and my brother Will. They came under great difficulties, having ridden from Melville, over the G. T. P., a distance of twenty-six miles, on a "jigger." They rendered splendid assistance during the day, and naturally we were glad to have them.

On Sunday afternoon several Christian friends expressed their delight at the Army's arrival, and wished the work success.

The pioneer party toiled hard to bring the unconverted to a decision for Christ, but no one yielded there and then. Several, however, were under conviction. The singing of the Captain and Lieutenant was highly appreciated and was of great assistance as was also the correct play of Captain Rogers and my brother, The "Baby" Corps has had a good beginning and we are confident there are bright days in store for Yorkton. Pray for our commander—W. Peacock, Staff-Captain.

Had custom, consolidated into habit, is such a tyrant that men sometimes cling to vices even while they curse them.

SURE OF ARMY'S HELP.

Recently, Captain Smith, of Montreal IV, Corps, was at the cemetery office making arrangements for the burial of one of our promoted Soldiers. In the office at the same time a man and his wife were waiting, and apparently in great anxiety. Presently the distressed man beckoned the Captain to his side.

"We have been in Canada two weeks," he said, "and our little girl has just died. We are not yet connected with any church, and my wife is broken-hearted, and is worrying as to who will undertake the burial of our child, especially as I have spent all my money in getting really our little home and in travelling and other expenses. When I saw your officer, I felt relieved, as I was sure you would do something for us."

The Captain, to the great relief of the sorrowing parents, gladly agreed to undertake the burial, and to do everything he could to make their burden lighter.

ESTIMATING YOURSELF.

"Just standing and watch yourself go by." Think of yourself as 'he' instead of 'I.' Pick flaws, find fault, forget the man is you. And strive to make your estimate right time. The faults of others, then, will dwarf and shrink. Love's chain grow stronger by 'one mighty link.' When you with 'he' as substitute for 'I'.

Main Street, Yorkton. The Cross in the centre of the street indicates the first open-air stand.

The opening shot was fired on Broadway, in front of the Union Bank, on the Saturday night of our campaign. The weather all day had been very unpleasant, rain having fallen constantly, but a little after eight at night it cleared, and we were able to hold our open-air. There we stood, five in all; the Officers, Captain Grey and Lieutenant Frost, Captain Ben Rogers, from England, Bro. Fildroff, and myself. "Jesus, the name high over all," make strong enough to bear additions to the height as required, but at present only two stories are in contemplation. Accommodation will be provided for thirty Police Court cases and employees in the Industrial Workshops, all of whom will be of the unemployed class, and there will be a suite of five rooms for the use of the Officer in charge of the institution. Workshops, paint shops, boot repair shop, tailoring repairs, and clothes sorting rooms will all be provided, and there will be installed a paper press, and paper-spring room, where waste paper can be sorted, pressed, and packed into bales. On the rear of the lot there will be accommodation for three or four wagons.

Ensign Marshall has recently been forced to rent new premises, at 433 Harris Street, in order to relieve somewhat the congestion at Gore Avenue, the first store of the Industrial branch, and already the need for the step is evident, a striking air of business and bustle pervading the atmosphere of Harris Street in the vicinity of The Salvation Army Store.

ADVANCED TRAINING.

Expressing his appreciation of the benefits derived from the Advanced Training system for Officers, Adjutant Joseph Gosling, of Montreal, who was recently awarded a diploma for his studies in Bible doctrine, writes:

"I think it the very best method of Bible study that I have ever had anything to do with. The blessing and help I received from it and the general knowledge of the Scriptures I have gathered from the course just completed have paid me a thousand times for all the work and time I have given to it."

With Instrument and Voice.

Owen Sound Band has welcomed Bandmaster Wood (late Deputy-Bandmaster of St. Thomas). He is playing solo cornet, says W. R. and we find in him not only a good musician, but a deeply spiritual man. (We hope to welcome Mrs. Wood and family to the Corps in the near future.

My Corps Sergeant-Major told me that at our last meeting (July 9th) when the enclosed programme was given, we had the largest crowd on record (about three hundred), for a Wednesday night service.

"We are having our Annual Picnic on August 14th, when I hope to get you a few pictures of some of our Bandmen."

In his testimony on a recent Sunday afternoon, Bandman "Joe" Daft, of Earlscourt, Toronto, referred, with great interest to his comrades, to his love for the Army Flag, under which he had marched for over thirty years. One of his most cherished memories was the presentation of colours to the Notts I. Band (England), by the Army Mother, Brother Daft was a Bandman of that Corps at the time. We wonder if there are any other Bandmen in Canada who were present on that memorable occasion?

Bandmaster Arthur Knight, late of Bedford Congress Hall, has been welcomed to Niagara Falls, Ont.

An Army friend Mr. John Mercer, of New Westminster, B.C., recently took the Bandmen of that Corps and their wives for a trip in his launch up the Fraser River. The Bandmen played some selections and hymns during the trip, which was most enjoyable.

Mr. Mercer, one of New Westminster's pioneers, has resided in that city for the last nineteen years, following the vocation of fisherman. He originally came from Newfoundland.

The London I. Songster Brigade. This Brigade recently conducted a splendid week-end at the Corps. They had (says a correspondent) a Gospel ship erected on the platform and the Songsters (or crew), were in full sailor costume, which was very attractive. The meeting drew a good crowd.

On Saturday night, the Songsters gave a splendid programme, every man referring to sea life. On Sunday, the meetings were well attended.

much brass pipe as you and spit it out again, and yet the people here regard it with an utter lack of enthusiasm."

Staff-Captain, Peacock, the Chancellor of the North-West Division, has kept in mind the interests of Band Chat, and has forwarded the following newsy notes:—
"Regina has launched a $5000 Band Instrument Scheme, and is meeting with splendid success. The Band is doing well under the direction of Bandmaster Henderson. An interesting fact came to light in connection with the welcome of Ensign Weir to Regina, in that he mer Bandmaster Henderson after many years' separation. It appears that the Bandmaster, some years ago, went one evening every week to a neighboring town, near to the one in which he lived, to give tuition to the little Army Band, among the members of which was a young man named George Weir, who has just come to Regina as Officer in charge."

"St. James' and Winnipeg II. Bands also have Instrument Schemes on hand. The Swedish Band has recently been strengthened by one or two new Bandmen, who have been given instruction by Adjutant Larsson, the Corps Officer.
"The Winnipeg I. Young People's Band will give a farewell festival in the No. 1. Citadel on Thursday next, July 17th, on the eve of its leaving the city for a ten days' tour through the Division. The fads will visit Portage Crochery, Regina, Moose Jaw, Weyburn, and Souris. This Band is increasing in usefulness, and is fast becoming the most popular Salvation Army Band of the Western Metropolis. The playing and singing is certainly very creditable, and the testimonials of the boys would bring blessing to you. Bandmaster Daney loves his boys, and the boys love the Bandmaster. Brother Black, the Sergeant, is well liked. The fads will appear in their new uniforms on Thursday night."

"Concerning the presentation of a number of new silver-plated instruments to the Winnipeg III. Band, a Winnipeg paper says:—
"The names of the Bandmen, together with the instruments they received, were as follows:—Bandmen Allen and Hughes, cornets; Bandmen Cuzens, Ferris, and Ensign, hornets; Bandman Paul, Garrett, and Styles, baritones; Bandman Yetman, euphonium (donated by Bandman Yetman, senior); Bandman Rigden, trombone; Bandman Holgate, E flat bass."

"The cost of the instruments is about a thousand dollars, and half of this amount has been raised by the evening, the No. 1. Band played several selections, and D. W. McKechnie, Esq., was the chairman."

"On behalf of the No. III. Band, the writer got permission to speak in the No. 1. L. Gordon's Church (United Congregational), and the result was an offering of over $200 for the Band. The No. 1. L. Band, Captain Veigal and the Rev. S. D. Gordon (the well-known author and brother to the pastor), were also present on this occasion."

One thing is certain, whatever you undertake without love—mean love in the best sense of the word—not love of worldly matters—can not be accomplished. It was but—love for God, for nature and for which made the ancient painter and sculptor so great, and it is the lack of this love which makes our modern artists so hopelessly small. The old idea is replaced by the desire of making money, to procure luxury. One must live, of course, and if an artist makes money by his art, well and good. It is perfectly legitimate. But to regard an art solely from the point of being able to make money out of it is absolutely to be condemned."

Art is serious; the pupil who wants to play with it should give it up. It is a grave matter to become a singer—Blanche Marchesi on "The Teaching of Singing and the Singers' Art," in "The Musical Educator."

To this writer's clear and early remarks, we would add our "And" and remind our readers—the Sisters especially—that the human voice can know no higher service than the service of God, which is what implanted in the heart, to cause men and women to "sing to love."

HOW TO BECOME A GOOD SINGER

You wish to sing? Why? Because you are longing to become celebrated, or because you love money? Or do you really love the art of song? Some people come to sing in order to make a little money to be able to pay the rent of their house. Others love family life, they want to sing because they have to earn their own living, and they prefer singing to doing any thing else, as it is least "so quick and brings in so much more money in the end."

One thing is certain, whatever you undertake without love—mean love in the best sense of the word—not love of worldly matters—can not be accomplished. It was but—love for God, for nature and for which made the ancient painter and sculptor so great, and it is the lack of this love which makes our modern artists so hopelessly small. school, and were pleased to hear of the good results that have attended her work during the winter.

Peter's Arm is only a small village, but the people have showed a remarkable spirit of self-sacrifice in the way they have worked to erect a very comfortable Hall, a building which would do credit to a much larger place. The Lieutenant reported that she had had quite a very pleasant one, indeed.

The tour occupied about four weeks, during which time our comrades travelled about a thousand miles, mostly by motor boat, visited their Corps and Outposts, conducted thirty indoor meetings, inspected twenty day schools, and had the joy of seeing quite a number of souls at the Mercy Seat.

The Winter's Work.

Leaving St. John's on Wednesday evening, May 22nd, they reached Norris Arm next morning. There they took a motor boat for Foxwood, where they found Ensign and Mrs. Simmons very busy preparing for the summer's work. The accompaniment of these comrades were able to give of the winter's campaign were very encouraging. Under their leadership things are progressing. Cader M. Butler, who is conducting our day school, has also made some advance. Although that aspect of the work has been somewhat difficult during winter owing to a number of our people having had to move into the interior of the country for logging purposes.

From a commercial standpoint, Foxwood has improved wonderfully during the last few years, and being the port for the Grand Falls and Bishop Falls pulp and paper mills, number of souls saved within the last few months.

After the meeting, the visitors took train for Lewisporte, where they waited for the arrival of Adjutant Hiseock with the motor boat, to take them to Comfort Cove; but after leaving Lewisporte, they found it impossible to reach Comfort Cove, owing to an ice blockade; they were therefore regretfully compelled to drop the appointment, and spend the night with Adjutant and Mrs. Hiseock at Campbelltown.

Next day, the wind having changed somewhat and moving the ice out of the bay, they proceeded to Salt Pond. On arrival they found that Adjutant Sexton had been somewhat anxious as to whether they would be able to reach his Corps, but the sight of the boat in the distance had, however, relieved his fears, and he was soon getting around to let his people know the time of meeting.

Not long afterwards a good number gathered at the Hall, and the bright meeting was much enjoyed.

Here, too, they found Lieutenant French busy engaged in teaching children at our day school, and were pleased to hear of the good results that have attended her work during the winter.

Only a few hours before it would have been impossible for them to have reached their destination, but thanks to wind and tide, only a few large pieces now remained to mark the place where the great blockade had been.

At Cottle's Island they found that owing to some mismanagement of the mails, the Captain had not received notice of their visit. It was not long, however, before the whole countryside knew that the party had arrived, and by meeting time the building was packed. On Tuesday morning the Staff-Captain inspected the school, after which he and the Brigadier set sail for Farmer's Arm. Landing the Brigadier there, the Staff-Captain and Adjutant returned to Campbellton to conduct the funeral of a man who had died very suddenly. They afterwards left again for Farmer's Arm, arriving in time to assist the Brigadier with the night meeting.

Early next morning they left for Foxwood, calling on their way at Comfort Cove to explain to Ensign and Mrs. Butler why they had not been able to fulfill their appointment.

With Sword and Saw.

The Fasnien has been very busy of late, repairing the Quarters, so as to make the house more comfortable for his little family. He has also a new Hall partly finished.

They also called at Birch Bay (an Outpost from Comfort Cove), and had a talk with Father Canaling. The comrades here have been rather handicapped owing to the building which they had erected having blown down.

The route to Horwood was somewhat new to the crew, as none of them had ever been through the Reach before. When questioned as to the wisdom of taking this route, one of them answered that the boat had to go where it was wet; but of course, her going depend on the tide, and the bottom appeared nearer to bed keel than was desirable. But on shore, and whether due to lack of good seamanship, they eventually reached Horwood without mishap and in good time for meetings.

During their stay here the Brigadier gave an illustrated lecture on the life of the late General, which was greatly valued.

Captain Coveyduck has put up a good light during the winter, and things seem to be moving ahead. The school is in a good condition, although at the time of visitation a number of children had left of their parents' work.

At noon on Monday the visitors left Campbellton for their next appointment, Cottle's Island. They were surprised to see how quickly the ice had cleared out of the Bay.

FIRST ATTACK ON
SOUTH VANCOUVERAn Encouraging Start—Staff-Captain
White Leads Weekend Meetings.

The citizens living in South Vancouver were more than interested in the red streamer which was strung across the old Baptist Church in Fraser Avenue, announcing that "on and after June 28th, The Salvation Army will light the devil" in the above-named building. Interest changed into curiosity when each household was further bombarded with highly-coloured "doggers," announcing that The Army would "open fire" on Saturday and Sunday with "Attacks" at 8 p.m., 7 a.m., 3 and 7.30 p.m.

Bandmen and Mrs. Ellis, Recently married at Essex by Major Morris.

It was therefore no wonder that good crowds, good finances, and seven souls in the fountain rewarded the Officers' labours on that opening day. The No. 1, Silver Band rendered noble and sympathetic assistance to Staff-Captain and Mrs. White, who were in command, and conducted the first week-end "attacks" of Vancouver V.

Our Officers, Captain Roe and Lieutenant Simco, are full of fire and faith for a soul-saving awakening. On Sunday, July 6th, despite inclement weather, good crowds attended the meetings all day, and two little girls taught Jesus.

On Monday, July 7th, Brigadier Green conducted a special meeting, and four souls knelt at the Mercy Seat.

THE CHATHAM BAND.

A Visit to Detroit With Major and Mrs. Morris.

Detroit, July 27.
We have been visited during this week-end, by the splendid Band from Chatham, Ontario, Corp. The music captivated the hearts of great crowds, which heard the Band in the open-air and in the Citadel. The Bandmen acquitted themselves like true Salvationists, and the impression left will not soon be erased. The Detroit Bandmen and the Corps feel that they were highly honoured in having their comrades

Meetings Led by the Divisional Commander.

Major Morris, the Divisional Commander, with Adjutant Smith, the Chancery, and Captain Wright, the Band from Woodstock, visited Tillsonburg on July 5th and 6th. The Band arrived in good time for the opening night, although many of the Bandmen had come straight from work without having supper, they stepped out briskly to the music given for the night. Two open-air meetings were held, the crowds increasing rapidly when they heard the music.

BRIGADIER WM. MURRAY
Speaks in Sunday Evening Meeting at Toronto Temple.

After spending a few days in Canada, Brigadier Wm. Murray, Divisional Commander for Preston, England, who brought over a party of 150 immigrants, has left for his command. Before returning, he spoke in Sunday night's meeting, conducted by Lieut.-Colonel Turner at Toronto Temple on July 30th. Mrs. Colonel Turner and Major Creighton also taking part.

There was a good attendance, and a refreshing feature of the meeting was the hearty singing on the part of the congregation. The Songsters also did well, and the effort of the String Band was a pleasing departure from custom.

Introducing the Brigadier, the Editor of "The War Cry" spoke of their having been stationed together for a brief period twenty-five years ago, and Staff-Captain Walton, from Montreal, recalled some happy appointments in Divisions of which the Brigadier had had command. In a brief address, the Staff-Captain, who was formerly in charge of the Toronto Corps, also sought to turn the eyes of the people away from themselves to Christ, the sinner's Friend.

Having spoken of his appreciation of the opportunity he had of seeing Canada and of the benefit the journey had been to him, the Brigadier drew a striking contrast between the attitude towards Christianity of the rich young ruler and that of the Avoué Paul. The only life worth the living, he said, was that which was lived in harmony with God's purposes. He closed his powerful address with an effective statement of his own testimony, and in the prayer meeting, led principally by Colonel Turner, four souls came to God.

On Thursday, July 10th, Ligar Street (Toronto) contrabands and friends welcomed home Adjutant Johnson, who has been on journey in account of his health, which is now much improved. Seven souls sought salvation in the Sunday night meeting, July 13th.

HUMAN life is a service, and the great men and women are those who render the greatest service. "Whosoever of you," said the Lord Jesus, "will be chiefest, let him be servant of all."

There is laid down the principle that the greatness of man is to be measured not by his acquisitions and possessions, but by the greatness of the service he renders. No man is, or can be, truly great, except by this means. Wealth, gifts, honours, position, power, intellect, none of these things make a man great, except so far as he uses them in the service of others, and even then it is the service which exalts him, rather than the means which he employs.

In God's Estimation.

The little factory lass I saw one day, who spends her scanty leisure and a large part of her earnings in the care of a friendless blind girl who was thrown across her path in a Salvation Army meeting a year or two ago, is far more really great among men than some of the rich and noble of her country, whose great positions and great fortunes and great names are alike devoted to ministering to their own gratification. The toiling worker in the iron-foundry, who scarcely ever misses an open-air meeting, and who struggles on, Sunday after Sunday and year after year, with a band of Juniors, loving, teaching, pouring over them is, in my eyes, more truly great in God's estimation than the M. P. who sits in the House of Commons for his Borough or the Bishop of the Diocese in which he happens to live.

AS THE REPORTER SAW IT.

Impression of an Army Wedding.

It would be difficult to find a happier-looking lot of men and women than The Salvationists. They sing because they are happy and sing with spirit, and do not worry themselves about the hard and fast rules of music. The Officers in charge are fully alive to the fact that a good laugh is not detrimental to religion, and a humorous reference always meets with a response from the Soldiers of the Blood and Fire Banner.

The marriage ceremony itself was solemn and impressive, and made one feel that the Salvationist is thoroughly in earnest in the work of Christianity. Nevertheless, the chief impression that an outsider gets is that religion as exemplified by The Army is a happy condition which precludes the possibility of the members wanting any other interest to all their lives—"The Dundas Dancer."

West Toronto and Temple.

Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Chandler made a surprise visit to West Toronto, Sunday night, July 13th. The meeting was full of life and interest, and two souls knelt at the Mercy Seat. One man had been a Salvationist for a number of years, but found he had made a mistake in leaving The Army. During the meeting, the Colonel dedicated the child of Brother and Sister A. Lewis. Mrs. Chandler's singing, and the Colonel's earnest address, took hold of the people.

In the morning, the Colonel led the meeting at the Temple—an announced treat for the Soldiers and all present. The Divisional Commander's words were apt and searching, and one soul surrendered.

The Supremacy of Service.

HOW TRUE GREATNESS IS MEASURED.

By General Bramwell Booth.

Religion is not what we have, but what we are. Greatness is not in getting, but in giving—not in being ministered unto, but in ministering to others. The noble man in the shipwreck is not the man who gets a boat for himself and rows away with his family to safety, no matter what his title or age or honours. The really noble man is he who stands by the sinking vessel till all on board are safely landed, and only begins to remember his own rescue when he is reminded of his danger by those he has saved.

But service may be prompted by many motives.

From a Sense of Duty.

Even those who serve one another for gain have some greatness which does not belong to those who never serve at all. And men whose service is rendered from necessity are greater, in reality, than those who do nothing. Many a weary little kitchen girl, labouring on from morn till eve among the pots and pans without a "Thank you," simply because she must do it or starve, is really greater in the eyes of God than her splendid mistress who idles away her life in the drawing-room and the park. And service rendered from a noble sense of duty, without emotion or ambition or anticipation, purely because it ought to be rendered, that also exalts the worker.

More "War Cry" Increases.

Popularity of the New Circulation Scheme—Corps Repeating Their Increase Orders.

Sill rising! Despite the dog days! There is, of course, nothing so refreshing as a "War Cry" for the dog days. The grasshopper being a burden? Not quite!

What do you think of this week's list of increases? One comes all the way from charming Bermuda, and another shows that Sudbury has made its third rise in three weeks. Well done!

Dresden (Captain Treasurer and Lieutenant Henderson), 30; Montreal II. (Captain and Mrs. Barber), 30; Swift Current (Captain Jones and Lieutenant Johnstone), 25; Hamilton III. (Ensign Thompson and Captain Simmons), 25; Sudbury (Captain and Mrs. Hancock), 25; Perth (Captain Bailey and Lieutenant Turner), 25; Prince Rupert (Captain Stride and Lieutenants Delamont and Hed), 24; Sonoma (Captain Stride and Lieutenant Brown), 12; Rhodes Avenue (Toronto) (Captain and Mrs. Wilson), 10.

A total of 26 COPIES FOR ONE WEEK! and still there's more to follow. The new circulation scheme is all right, as many Corps Commanding Officers are finding out. They are coming back for a second and third rise.

Main Street, Orangeville, Ont. The figures 1 and 2 show where the Saturday evening open-air meetings are usually held.

the most wonderful and most glorious being in that wonderful and glorious world—His Love. And in the same way our love will be our crown.

Oh, how are you getting on with your crown? Are you living the life of loving service? Are you giving of your best to the lost and to the poor, and the sad and suffering, and the dark and dying around you? Your future hereafter is subject to your good investment here.

Of the Highest Value.

And as much depends upon the kind of Service we render, so something will depend upon its form. What is the Service of greatest value one man can do for another? Surely it must be to save his soul—to bring him back to God. As it is a greater service to lead than to educate, and a greater service to save a man's life than to protect his property, so it must be greater to save his soul, which must live for ever, than to do anything which affects only his temporal affairs.

Yes, that is the greatest service, and so they are the really great, who are really the greatest among men, who from love are servants of all, and whose service is to lead them to the Cross.

And here again the way to the highest place open to all. Any one can love, and any one who loves can seek and save the unsaved. The little child, the ordinary man, the timid and the weak, and the unworshipful, all, if they are but saved themselves, can save others, and thus ascend to the Heights of the Father's glory with the Son of Man Himself, whose own chief title to that glory is that life came to seek and to save that which was lost.

CONVERSION OF A DRUNK.

The First Sunday at Orangeville. The accompanying sketch of Main Street, Orangeville, shows the position occupied by the Corps for their Saturday night open-air work.

Writing of some of the first services—the Corps has just been repaid—Lieutenant Chapman says: "Large crowds listened to our meetings, and several men told me, whilst I was taking up the offering, how they had been blessed. In Sunday morning's holiness meeting we had a wonderful conversion, a man who has been well known here as a drunkard, getting saved. He came to both open-air and the indoor meetings, afternoon and night, and gave his testimony."

In the afternoon, Rev. Mr. Robinson (Methodist Minister) gave a powerful address. The Rev. Mr. Ricks (Anglican Minister) has also promised to speak.

At night our congregation numbered one hundred people. Lieutenant Linton gave the address.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Come ye yourselves apart and rest awhile.
Weary I know it, of the press and throng,
Wipe from your brow the sweat and dust of toil,
And in My quiet strength again be strong.

Come ye aside from all the world holds dear,
For converse which the world has never known,
Alone with Me, and with My Father here,
With Me and with My Father not alone.

Niagara Falls, Ont.

Brigadier Cameron, Capt. Eastwell led the week-end meetings, July 12th and 13th, and stirred both the Corps and town. On Saturday, two open-air meetings were held, one in the southern part of the town, the other in the northern, the bombardment continuing from seven until about nine-thirty p.m.

Sunday morning's meetings were profitable. In the afternoon, along the banks of the Niagara Falls and river, open-air meetings were conducted, to the blessing and helping of large crowds of people.

At night, the Brigadier made a desperate attack on sin, and three souls surrendered.

Under Captain and Mrs. Noek, our Corps is making good progress, spiritually, financially, and musically, says W. E. D. A number of conversions have recently taken place, and some of the converts are taking their stand in the open-air.

The Officers' Quarters have been improved, old debts have been cleared off, and our Band is improving rapidly, and rendering effective service. We have recently welcomed the Knight family (late of Bedford Congress Hall), two members of which are Bandmen, and their enthusiastic assistance proves them to be of that type of experienced Soldiers which every Corps delights to welcome.

Brampton.

On Saturday and Sunday, July 20th and 21st, Captain Van der Ven, of Territorial Headquarters, and Sergeant-Major Bell and his son, Harry, of Legat Street Corps, were here. The Sergeant-Major, in spite of physical weakness, rendered good service by his singing and powerful addresses, says A. W. M.

On Saturday night, the Captain gave a lecture on Holland. The Junior Hall was filled.

Captain Van der Ven's Holiness address on "Half-hearted Service," was an inspiration to all. "Bargain-counter Religion" was the theme of Sunday afternoon's meeting.

Previous to the Captain's address on Sunday, soul-stirring testimonies were given by Sergeant-Major Sinden and Candidate Ding, and Brother and Sister refines sang a duet. Captain Hood is on tour.

Swift Current, Sask.

Major McLean, Divisional Commander, paid his first official visit to the Corps on July 15th, writes Captain Jones. He led a good open-air meeting. The Major's cornet solo drew a large crowd, and his words were listened to with great interest.

At the close of the open-air, we marched to the old school-house. A good crowd gathered there, and the Major's address was listened to with deep interest. Two souls came out and sought salvation. One had not been in a place of worship for forty-five years.

The meetings on Sunday, July 15th, were well attended. At night, one soul got soundly converted.

St. John II, N.B.

Two comrades from Yarmouth, N.S., Brother H. Delaney (a Candidate for the next Training Session), and Brother L. Muise, were with us on Sunday, July 13th. We had stirring meetings, says G. W. L., and at night souls sought salvation.

[Our correspondent does not give the number of converts.—R.] Two backsliders returned to God on Sunday, July 13th.

Riverdale.

Adjutant and Mrs. Cameron led the meetings on Sunday, July 13th. In the morning, Mrs. Brigadier Porter, Major Fleming, Captain Bonyne and Dodd, and Cadet-Sergeant Shibley, took part. The latter was formerly a Soldier of this Corps.

At night, a memorial service for the late Sister Mrs. Faulkner, took place. A very impressive slow march was held from the open-air stand to the Hall, which was well filled. Brother Lamb, Sister Mrs. Farmer, and Sergeant-Major Brailley, spoke of the late sister's life. Her work in the Corps, and her smile, had always been a cheer and blessing.

While the Band played the Dead March in Saul, a man came to the Mercy Seat, where he was followed, during the prayer meeting, by four other seekers after salvation.

We sympathize with Brother Faulkner, who is the Corps' Colour-Sergeant.

On Monday, the Corps' Picnic was held at Bow Lake. About 320 comrades and friends were present.

Earls Court (Toronto).

Captain and Mrs. Weeks have received a warm welcome, and under their command the Corps is advancing. Their welcome meeting was well attended, and characterized by enthusiastic and sympathetic assurances from representative comrades, of fidelity to the Officers and their leadership. The Band was present in good force.

On Sunday, July 13th, twelve comrades were present at Kneec-drill—a good sign! Interesting meetings were held throughout the day, that of the afternoon, when the comrades' testimonies, quite incidentally, were almost entirely on The Army's Flag, and what it had meant to them, being especially enjoyable. At night, one soul knelt at the Mercy Seat.

Prince Albert.

On Sunday night, July 13th, Captain Formee farwelled, says C. F. M. Four backsliders sought pardon.

The Corps' comrades have fought devoted to a memorial service for our comrade, Brother Cooke, who went suddenly to his rest.

He was unable, at the last, to express in words his feelings, but in answer to a question, he was able to show by raising his hand, that he had no fear of death. This appears to have been the last testimony he gave to our Officer who he (Bro. Cooke) paid what was his last visit to our Hall on the Sunday preceding his death, which occurred on the following Sunday.

Four souls surrendered at the close of the meeting.

Montreal IV.

On Sunday, July 13th, Captain and Mrs. Smith said farewell, after a stay of nearly two years and a half, throughout the day, says G. Dondelinger, a Soldier from every side of the Corps, pointed to their good work here.

At night, the oldest Soldier, Major Rogers, Treasurer of the Corps, Sergeant-Major Dow, referred to the recent progress of the Corps, which is flourishing in every respect. The number of Soldiers and size of our congregations, not to forget the Band, with all their instruments, but two, show something of what has been done.

Brigadier Rawling, our Divisional Commander, spoke of the effort he had for Captain and Mrs. Smith. This, he said, was evidenced by the appointment he was giving them, Kingston, Ont. Major Jennings and May also testified in the same manner.

Part of our night meeting was devoted to a memorial service for our comrade, Brother Cooke, who went suddenly to his rest.

He was unable, at the last, to express in words his feelings, but in answer to a question, he was able to show by raising his hand, that he had no fear of death. This appears to have been the last testimony he gave to our Officer who he (Bro. Four souls surrendered at the close of the meeting.

Regina.

Thursday night's meeting, July 10th, was led by the members of the Band, says R. J. C. The testimony meeting was in charge of Benjamin Telli. The son, Walter Leslie, of Major Mrs. Condie, was dedicated by Ensign Weir.

On Saturday night, these souls sought salvation. The Band and Soldiers also took part in the Kneec-drill, also, was well attended, and we had a large crowd at the Holiness meeting. Also at night, when two sisters were welcomed to the Corps from Clifton General Hall, London, England, (Sister Collins and Sister Jopp). The Band played "Before Jehovah's Altar Thro'out" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Mrs. Knigh Weir gave the lesson, and two souls sought salvation.

Medicine Hat.

On Thursday, July 10th, we had a visit from Major McLean, who gave a lecture to a large crowd in our tent on "Past and Present Missions." The Major also called five recruits, and dedicated them to the Corps. The Major, also, called five recruits, and dedicated them to the Corps. The Major, also, called five recruits, and dedicated them to the Corps.

Since Captain and Mrs. Ous have come here the Soldiers' Hall has been doubled, and the Band has had fifteen men added.

The plans for our new Hall have arrived, and building operations are to be begun almost immediately.

Our meetings for the week-end, July 12th and 13th, were conducted by Captain Ous and Candidate Harris, of Moose Jaw. The night meeting closed with a backslider at the Cross.

Owen Sound.

The Saturday night (July 12th) open-air was conducted by Assistant Smith, of London, who visited us for the week-end. After the open-air the Adjutant gave an interesting lecture in the Clifton lantern lecture in the Clifton lantern.

Our meetings for the week-end, July 12th and 13th, were conducted by Captain Ous and Candidate Harris, of Moose Jaw. The night meeting closed with a backslider at the Cross.

During Sunday, July 13th, a number of the "Gideons" (Christian Commercial Travellers) attended the Lippincott Street (Toronto) Corps. Mr. Cole, the Secretary of the Association, gave an address at night, when a large crowd was present. Mr. McKenzie sang and Mr. Duffield also spoke, and the Band played "My Keeper." In the prayer meeting, seven souls knelt at the Penitential Bench.

In aid of this building the citizens recently conducted a successful whirlwind campaign. (From plan by Major Miller.)

also Lieut.-Colonel Chandler, the Divisional Commander, with Mrs. Chandler. A very happy day was spent.

Toronto I.

Brother Heard, of Dovercourt, led the meetings on Sunday, July 13th, and his red-hot addresses, both in the open-air and in the Hall, were greatly enjoyed. At night, 52 Soldiers and converts were on the march. Three souls got saved.

In the afternoon, two coloured brothers visited us, and spoke. They appreciated the old-time spirit of No. 1 Corps.

Captain Van der Ven led the meetings at Wyckwood (Toronto) on Saturday and Sunday, July 12th and 13th. On Saturday night, Captains W. and H. Dray assisted, and the former on Sunday morning and night. Sunday's meetings were very profitable and interesting. Mrs. Van der Ven took part at night.

A WEEK OF HUSTLE.

Lieut.-Colonel Turner Visits the Maritime Provinces—A "Tall" Travelling Record.

To the 32,000 miles which Lieut.-Colonel Turner, Immigration and Property Secretary, has already travelled this year, on Army business, another two thousand were added by his recent trip to the Atlantic seaboard and back to Toronto. What he accomplished in a week seems almost like a record for "hustling."

Leaving Toronto on Sunday night, July 5th, the Colonel arrived in Montreal early on Monday morning, and at 4 p.m., transacted business with Brigadier Rawling, the Divisional Commander. Taking the train for Sherbrooke, Quebec, the Colonel, between 9 p.m. and 10:30 p.m., inspected The Army's new property there, and then, with Major Jennings, continued his journey to the East, arriving during the next morning at Woodstock, N. B., where he had about one hour in conference with the Hon. J. K. Fleming, Premier of New Brunswick, and afterwards inspected The Army Hall.

Interview on the Train.

At 4:55 p.m. the same day, they caught the train for St. John, N.B., arriving at 11:15 p.m., and after spending a few minutes with Major Taylor, Divisional Commander, left for Halifax.

Wednesday morning was given up to inspections and conferences with Major Barr, Divisional Commander, and Ensign Turner, of the Domestic Lodge, and at 3 p.m. after afternoon, the Colonel was off to Truro, Thursday brought a journey to Antigonish, to interview, if possible, the Hon. David V. Landry, Commissioner for Agriculture for New Brunswick. Before long they discovered that the hon. gentleman was also on the same train. The Colonel made good use of the time, and conversed with Mr. Landry as they journeyed to Fredericton, the home of the Provincial Parliament.

A Dash for It.

Being able to complete the interview on the train, the Colonel found he had just twenty-five minutes to spare before the train started back to St. John. Calling a cab, he instructed the driver to drive as fast as he could to The Army Hall, which underwent a ten-minute inspection, after having been in the hands of many men and recorders for some weeks.

At 12 noon (Thursday) the Colonel was back in St. John, and at 1:30 p.m. he was in conference with Major Taylor, who was on his way to Moncton, where he resigned Major Jennings.

Rolling into Quebec on noon on Friday, the Colonel and Major spent some time at the office in Immigration business, and interviewed, at Provincial Parliament Buildings, Sir Louis-Philippe de la Roche. At 3 p.m. the Colonel was starting out of Quebec, and at 10 p.m. arrived in the Metropolis. Many immigration officers attended the formal luncheon between "changing hats," and then, with the conductor, "All aboard!" ringing in their ears, the Colonel and Captain Wright, Major Jennings' assistant, left for their good-bye, the Colonel coming direct to Toronto, where he arrived at 11:30 p.m. on Saturday morning. He had been in the field for six days, he had been "going strong."

Circumstances are things around us. We are in them, not under them.

As the World Goes By.

Territorial Headquarters.

A young woman Salvationist who was recently transferred to a new Corps is receiving the attentions of a young man in the Corps. She knows but little of him at present and she is most desirous to do the right thing. She is anxious to discover whether he is a true man of God, a faithful Salvationist, and such a comrade at she might safely accept as her helpline and life partner. To her this is naturally an important matter.

1. Of whom should she make enquiry concerning his character?

2. What questions should she ask in order best to find out the kind of man he is?

We invite our readers to send post-card replies to these two questions. Post-cards should reach the Editor not later than August 15th. For the best set of replies we offer an award of two dollars, and for the second best, one dollar.

"One of my first memories of Commissioner 'Nation' says a 'War Cry' reader, 'is of seeing a man in our village in England, come running breathlessly up to my father and excitedly declaring, 'Old So-and-so's got a crazy fellow up in de lane!' I was only a little girl at the time, but I soon understood that what had happened was that Brother Nation—he was still a Missioner—had met a relative of ours, a local Missioner, who was driving through the lane, and, like Philip of old, had invited him to come down from his chariot, or cart, for a few moments of prayer together by the roadside."

If other readers would like to send us some of the interesting things they can recall about the late Commissioner, please let us have them at once.

SALVATIONIST CHIEF OF POLICE.

"Cleaning Up" a Town—Redeemers at Mercy Seat—St. John's Division Moves.

The great opportunities which summer affords for open-air work are being seized by many of the Corps in this Division, with good results. Seaside and Rockwood Parks are thronged with people, and the St. John IV. and III. Corps respectively devote the whole of Sunday afternoon to park meetings.

The townspeople of Digby, N.S., are pleased to be again under the care of our worthy Sergeant-Major, Bro. Henry Bowles, who is Chief of Police. After many years of service, he resigned some months ago and accepted another position, but was requested to come back to his old job, which he did—with increased zeal!

Our comrade has been a Local Officer for over twenty-five years, and wears a long Service badge. In his hospitable home, many Officers have been entertained when passing through this delightfully situated town. Bowles takes a great interest in The Army's work, and largely through her efforts, the Officers' Quarters have been re-furnished.

Adjutant Meeks has just concluded a most successful ten days' campaign in outlying towns and villages, with the Woodstock Band, Theatre Hall, and the Young People's and Senior Halls at Woodstock.

The contract for the erection of a new Hall in Amherst has been let and work has already commenced.

Adjutant Calvert and Captain Squarabriggs are in that town soliciting funds for the building.

A Methodist minister recently took part in one of our open-air meetings, and marched with us to the Hall. "Wherever your people go, things improve," he said. "You should see the change for the better that has been made in a house, which is not far from my home, recently, made into Quarters for your Officers. I am showing my appreciation by planting part of my garden with vegetables for the Officers' use. Good for the minister!"

Speaking of "cleaning up" reminds us that in another place the officials and townspeople were at their wit's end to know how to close up a house which for years had been a regular plague spot in the neighbourhood. In their extremity, they applied to The Army, with the result that the two women inmates were visited, spoken to about their sin, and persuaded upon to quit the old life.

But this was not all. Arrangements were specially made for their acceptance in our Rescue Home. With their three little children, they spent one night in the Officers' Quarters, and the house in which they lived was closed. The next day they were brought to the Home, where both have since got converted. That's cleaning things up, isn't it?

We wonder the Mayor and Council say, "The Army's cheque for fifty dollars for their thanks and a promise of further help."

Heads has visited a number of our Corps, the latest to answer the summons being Sister Mrs. Callabros, of St. George's, Bermuda. As Young People's Sergeant-Major, she was well known and loved. Her place will be hard to fill.

Mrs. William Steeves, of St. John I., was also called home this week.

Commissioner Railton's Last Journey.

Perhaps he knew something of too many tongues to know them all thoroughly, but he had a working acquaintance with them which was the envy of his comrades. "Going into a strange country for the first time, he seemed to pick up a conversational knowledge of the language as by magic and in a few days was surprising everybody by the fullness of his new vocabulary. He had scant patience with those whose great faith in the universality of the knowledge of English leads them to the false conclusion that, although among a foreign-speaking people, there is no need for them to learn any but their mother tongue.

Changing the Name of The Army.

DESCRIPTION OF AN HISTORIC INCIDENT.

The Commissioner's connection with the incident by which the name, The Christian Mission, was changed to The Salvation Army has become historic.

"The adoption of the new name was almost accidental," he has said. "We were drawing up a brief description of the Mission, and, wishing to express what it was in one phrase, I wrote, 'The Christian Mission is a volunteer army of converted working people.' 'No,' said Mr. Booth, 'we are not volunteers, for we feel we must do what we do and we are always on duty.' He crossed out the word and wrote 'Salvation.' The phrase immediately struck us all, and we very soon found it would be far more widely effective than the old name.

As International Representative.

HAD TRAVELLED OVER 300,000 MILES, AND LOVED IT.

Omitting only our late beloved General, we suppose Commissioner Railton was the greatest traveller in The Salvation Army. Eighteen of circumstances he could pride himself. The simpler the style of his travelling, the better he liked it. In personal luggage his requirements were almost apostolic in their severity. A hand-luggage bag and an umbrella were all he needed.

"The German fourth class (on the railroad)," he said, "became everything else." Why? Because he was among the people all the time and could converse with them and hold meetings.

"I admit," he added, "that with all the baskets of vegetables (potatoes, fish, flesh, or fowls, or rabbits, too) the coach may get cramped almost beyond standing room. But even then I always think that the chance of giving up your seat to a weary old farmer's wife or mother who more than compensate for my temporary discomfort, and help more than a thousand meetings to convince everybody there that we really belong to the poor."

On the steambath his preference was steerage. There, again, he was among the people. "Our deck," he once wrote, "is almost covered with mothers, and babies either on the deck itself. And babies are almost as plentiful as if one were in a maternity hospital. But all that is only an appeal to any true Salvationist, who cannot but wish to see and know what life among the poorest is."

But even for such a strenuous life circumstances new and then again that he should, like the children, "open his mouth, close his eyes and take what was sent him."

He could generally make himself at home, however. "Thank God, I ask no questions likely to make me uneasy."

And after all these long years of exciting journeying he was able to say, "Never a slip or an accident beyond one fall on Newhaven pier and one slip into water at Colombo harbor. Excellent!"

Now the Commissioner has taken his last journey.

The First "War Cry."

SOME ANXIOUS MOMENTS AT HEADQUARTERS.

Fittingly in the man who "wrote and wrote" to push the war, the Commissioner was in at the birth of the "War Cry." "And it was some time," we had had a printing office of our own, recalling the event with the old Whitechapel Press. "And it was some time," we had had a

An Interesting Career.

MISSIONARY TO MOROCCO TO ARMY COMMISSIONER.

When but a little boy, George Scott Railton had seen his mother strip the very blankets from the bed, rifle the house of its best, and go forth laden with the booty to scatter it amongst the poor. That was the sort of religion he came to love. His compassion for the heathen was aroused while yet in the days of his youth, and he acquired Spanish and started off on his own account, without a friend, as a missionary to Morocco.

His brother Lancelot, a Methodist minister, recognizing his abilities, afterwards advised him to study for the ministry. But he was far from satisfied. "He hated ecclesiasticism," says Commissioner Booth-Tucker, "with all the strength of his young nature." It was not unnatural, therefore, that when he read the late General's book, "How to Reach the Masses with the Gospel," he should leave everything and give his life to The Army. That was, according to the Year Book, in 1873.

For a long time he was The General's Secretary. But when able to lay aside the pen there was no one more eagerly ready to take his place at the battle's front. He preferred to visit the poorest Corps, where the Soldiers were fewest, and the odds against him the greatest. He loved the open-air work, and would much rather preach on the streets than in the Halls.

"He hailed each new departure in 'The Army with satisfaction,'" says Commissioner Booth-Tucker. "On one occasion he marched on foot through England, bare-headed, carrying a red bannerette with the inscription, 'Repentance, Faith, Holiness,' striving thus to penetrate the towns and districts which had not yet been reached."

"At another time he conducted a continuous meeting for three days and three nights, shattering an iron constitution by the stupendous effort, invaliding himself for twelve months, and never entirely recovering from the effects of the blow."

In 1880 The General dispatched the Commissioner to New York, as already hinted, with a party of Officers, to take charge of the newly-begin work of The Army in the States. A year later he returned, his services being needed at International Headquarters. In 1884 he was married to Sergeant Deborah Parkyn, of Torquay—the ceremony being conducted in the old Exeter Hall, London, by The General and Mrs. Booth.

Since then the Commissioner has been Territorial Commissioner for Germany, where, in the early days of our work, he endured much hardship, and more recently for France. For the last ten years, however, he has been occupied with literary work at Headquarters, and in travelling

"Opens Fire" in New York.

SPENDS TWELVE MONTHS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Concerning the historic commencement of Army Work in New York, for which the Commissioner was sent out in 1880, he once wrote: "After a twenty-eight days stormy voyage we landed in New York, and before we had been many minutes in the great rotunda of the Castle Gardens, we were politely asked to let the people hear what we had come to say. We formed a ring, surrounded one of our flags, and were

"I live right among the people. But the Officer in charge lives a little distance from the Settlement. You can imagine what I have to put up with, seeing that I do not know the language. I believe God will help me, however."

"On Sunday I went to the prison, and we had a meeting. At night we had another meeting with the Doms, and I had to give my welcome talk. I got through it all right, but, oh, what a difference between here and Canada! There are no Bands here! Still, I did not come out for that."

"I will give a little account of my voyage. I did not leave England till April 11th, so I spent Easter in London. I had a good time. For three weeks I was in the Staff College."

"I had a lovely voyage from England to Colombo, Ceylon. The sea was like glass almost all the way. Quite a change after the trip from Halifax to England. I was seasick nearly every day then, but was not sick at all going to India."

"I had a good time on board, although I was the only Salvationist, Staff-Captain Grove, having left England on March 14th."

"When I landed at Colombo I went to see him and stayed at his place for the week-end. I went from there to Bangalore, where I remained three weeks, getting an insight into the silk-weaving industry before coming here."

"We have got all sorts of trades at Jhupur."

The General in Denmark.

OPENING OF NEW TRAINING HOME—10,000 PEOPLE HEAR ARMY'S LEADER IN KING'S GARDENS—COMMISSIONER MRS. BOOTH HELLBERG ASSISTS—OVER 200 SEEKERS.

THE GENERAL'S Scandinavian Campaign commenced at Copenhagen, the first event being the opening of a new National Training Home, a well-equipped building to accommodate fifty Cadets.

A Soldier's gathering on the Saturday night finished up with seventy-four at the Mercy Seat.

On Sunday morning, the Concert Police, a renowned Salvationist band, was crowded, and the greatest sympathy, interest, and affection were shown by all classes for the work of The Army and its Leader. Sixty-two seekers came forward.

The city was stirred in the afternoon by a march of 1,200 Salvationists from the Temple to King's Gardens, where The General addressed a crowd of nearly ten thousand people.

This gathering, for years past a feature of the Congress Sunday, was admittedly of record size and interest. The General's address was an attack on sin and selfishness, based on the late General's life, and it went to many hearts like a message from the next world.

The skilful manner in which The General met the meeting into a fight for Pentecost-form results was a splendid lesson to The Army everywhere. In spite of a hard struggle against time and other odds, victory was gained; four souls knelt at the Mercy Seat before this immense concourse.

At night the Concert Palace was again crowded, and before the close of the meeting sixty-seven penitents came to the Mercy Seat.

It was a glorious day of Salvation fighting and victory, and was a fine tribute to Salvationism. Penitents, without exception, are unstinted in their praise of The Army's work for the people, and express assurances of its further success.

Commissioner Mrs. Booth-Hellberg, who stood at The General's side during the campaign, has been greatly cheered. The Officers and Soldiers are full of spirit and determination to carry the Flag forward.

Mrs. Booth in Finland.

FIVE THOUSAND PEOPLE GATHER IN PARK—125 SEEKERS FOR WEEK-END.

THE Congress conducted by Mrs. Booth at Helsinki, Finland, has proved the biggest thing in the history of the Territory, enthralling Brigadier Carpenter. On Sunday morning, the largest hall in the city was crowded to excess, hundreds standing. Following Mrs. Booth's appeal, many claimed sanctification at the Mercy Seat.

Mrs. Booth received salute of troops representing all Divisions of the Territory prior to a monster Salvation engagement in the afternoon in a lovely wooded park. Five thousand people, including all classes, stood here two hours, and were intensely interested. Four souls seeking pardon at the drum-head made a touching spectacle.

Numbers of people were turned away at night when a fine battle for souls was led by Mrs. Booth, who, as in each meeting, spoke with remarkable force and liberty, notwithstanding the double translation [from English to Swedish and Finnish] required in order that all present might understand what was said. The Holy Spirit was with the message, and there were 125 seekers at the Pentecost-form for the week-end.

Colonel Duff and Staff-Captain Catherine Booth lent valuable aid in the campaign, also Colonel and Mrs. Larsson, and Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Thykjær.

INTERNATIONAL ITEMS.

On Monday, July 21st, The General was announced to lead a Young People's Demonstration at the Clapton Congress Hall.

The British Commissioner is planning another great Salvation Campaign, to be called "Another Stage of London." It will be from November 8th to 12th inclusive.

Princess Henry of Battenberg has given a large autographed portrait of herself to the Army's Naval and Military Home at Portsmouth, which is named after her Royal Highness.

On June 29th, Commissioner Sturgess, accompanied by Brigadiers Aspinall and Phyllis, conducted the thirteenth anniversary of the commencement of the Free Breakfasts at The Army's Blackfriars Shelter.

Commissioner Adelaide Cox and Colonel Unsworth were appointed delegates to represent The Army at the International Congress on the White Slave Traffic, recently held in London, England.

Commissioner Whatmore, Commissioner Lawley, and Colonel Kiebing accompanied The General on his Continental Campaign. Commissioner Lawley, who is now in much better health, was also with the Chief of the Staff at Amersfoort, Holland, on July 16th.

Speaking at an "At-Home" the other day at Shortlands, the Rev. M. Abel said one of his relatives, a minister, used to be visited by a "War Cry" seller. He also had a magpie who became so interested in the Herald that finally it learned to say, "War Cry." One day the bird found its way into church and at a critical moment in the service it cried out loudly, "War Cry," "War Cry," "War Cry!"

Following his Councils with the Young People of Belfast, the Chief of the Staff met the Field Officers of the North of Ireland, together with the Men's Social and Assurance Staff.

Their Magazine to Be Enlarged and Extended in Scope.

The General has now decided, says the British "War Cry," upon several far-reaching alterations in "The Field Officer," the influential magazine which circulates among English-speaking Officers of The Army throughout the world, and editions of which are also published in some seven European countries. Hitherto this magazine has been accessible only to Officers engaged in Field work. In accordance with a widely-expressed desire, its scope is now to be widened to include all Officers of whatever rank, Staff and Field, in every branch of Army service.

With the July number the name of the magazine will be changed to "The Officer," and its size nearly doubled—increased from forty to seventy-two pages.

The Editor of "The Officer" is Brigadier Alfred G. Cunningham.

Effort has been a success. "Owing to the scattered nature of the work," he writes, "the exact results are not yet known, but there is every reason to hope that the total will be £250 (about $4,000), a rise on last year of £250 (about $2,000). These figures may not appear large, but for the West Indies, where there is so much poverty, and where the losses sustained in the earlier part of the year through the hurricane and floods were heavy, the result is magnificent."

Commissioner and Mrs. Higgins recently conducted a series of week-end campaigns in Ireland, visiting Dublin, Portlanoon, and Langan.

Among the people who sat on the platform in one of The General's recent meetings at Lausanne, Switzerland, was a lady who was at one time a nihilist, and the servant of a voluntary term of exile in Siberia. Upon returning to Europe she found Salvation in Switzerland, abandoned her nihilism, and is now a staunch and enthusiastic friend of The Army.

Officers in Denmark—Announcing Some of Their Special Meetings.

It is announced that a "Life" of the late Colonel James Barker is now being written.

ARMY SONGS

Tunes.—I hear Thy welcome voice,
69; Nearer my home, 71.
1 Before Thy face, dear Lord,
Myself I want to see;
And while I every question sing,
I want to answer Thee.

Chorus.

While I speak to Thee,
Lord, Thy goodness show;
Am I what I ought to be?
O Saviour, let me know!

Am I what once I was?
Have I that ground maintained
Wherein I walked in power with Thee
And Thou my soul sustained?

Do I possess a heart,
In thought and action clean?
From Monday morn till Sunday eve
Has my salvation been?

Tunes.—Rosenau, 92; Wells, 91;
Song Book, 374.

2 Oh, disclose Thy lovely face!
Quickened all my drooping
powers.

Gaspings fainting soul for grace,
As a thirsty land for showers.
Haste, my Lord, no more delay;
Come, my Saviour, come away!

Dark and cheerless is the morn,
Unaccompanied by Thee!
Joyless is the day's return
Till Thy mercy's beams I see;

Till Thou inward light impart,
Glad my eyes and warm my heart.

Visit, then, this soul of mine,
Pierce the gloom of sin and grief;
Eft me, Radiance Divine;
Scatter all my unbelief.

More and more Thyself display,
Shining to the perfect day.

Tunes.—Praise, 139; Come, comrades, dear, 136; He lives, 138;
Song Book, 299.

3 Come, comrades dear, who love
the Lord,
Who taste the sweets of Jesus' word,
In Jesus' ways go on;

Our troubles and our trials here
Will only make us richer there,
When we arrive at home.

We feel that Heaven is now begun;
It issues from the sparkling throne,
From Jesus' throne on high.
It comes in floods we can't contain.

We drink and drink, and drink
again,
And yet we still are dry.

Tune.—For you I am praying, 227.

4 Out on the broad way
Of darkness and danger,
Oh, why will you linger
A prodigal roamer?

You're rushing to naught
To Hell and destruction—
Oh, pause and consider
Your terrible doom!

Chorus.

For you I am praying, etc.
Hard do you prove it
Briars and thorns
All your pathway beset;
Oh, death and eternity
Soon will engulf you,
Say, if unprepared,
Sinner, what will you do?

Do not despair, there is
Cheering and healing
Now flowing for thee
In the life-giving stream.

O wounded and weary one,
Tarry no longer,
Come to its waters,
Oh, wash and be clean!

The Field Day, which was to have taken place at Clarkson's on Aug.
4th, is, for various reasons, postponed.

For the week-end, July 12th and 13th, we were visited by the Mount-real L. Instrumental Quartette. The musical meeting on Saturday evening was much enjoyed by a good crowd. "Lightning Sketches" by a Deputy-Bandmaster Goodier, was a merely. Viola, horn, euphonium, trombone, and vocal solos, together with other interesting numbers,
made a splendid programme.

The meetings on Sunday were well attended, and many spoke of the good they had received. The quartette also rendered good programmes at 3 p.m. and from 9 to 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Saskatoon.
The first welcome meeting to Captain and Mrs. Bourne, our new Officers, was held on Thursday, July manifested, and the comrades were inspired with a greater zeal for the extension of God's Kingdom.

On the following Sunday, the tain's special Thursday night subjects are an attraction.

At Trenton, five souls have lately

ing a certain week, for special prayer for the unconverted.
